MINING CAMP IS THE SCENE OF BLOODY SHOOTING AFFAIR

THE BANQUET IS A GREAT SUCCESS

Annual Affair of the Epworth League Is Attended By Approximately 100 Persons, Members of the League, And Guests

REV. CLARK, TOASTMASTER

Address By Rev. R. P. Graham of Bentleyville And Rev. J. S. Allison of the Northside M. E. Church of Pittsburgh—Latter Talk Main Address

The second annual banquet of the Charleroi Chapter of the Epworth League was held in the First Methodist Episcopal church last night, with an attendance of approximately 100 persons members of the league and invited guests. The banquet, served by the Ladies' Aid society of the church, reflected credit to them as caterers, and the concourse did "ample justice" to the viands provided.

The toastmaster for the evening was the Rev. Homer N Clark, pastor of the Methodist church at Speers. He was introduced by George H Hott, president of the League, who led in the singing.

The Rev. Clark made many happy allusions to the birthday occasion of George Washington, using witticisms, intermingled with the sublime.

Mrs. Mary Glunt Nicholson responded to an encore, following a solo rendered, and the lady's efforts were highly appreciated.

Rev. R. P. Graham of Bentleyville responded as the second speaker of the evening, his talk being replete also with witticisms and sublimity of thought.

The main talk of the evening was given by the Rev. John S. Allison, pastor of the Northside, Pittsburgh, Methodist Episcopal church. Rev Allison made allusion to the time when, as a boy in his teens, he had the "nerve" to apply for a preacher's license and to fill the pulpit of the local church. His theme of discourse was "Service" and he drew many apt illustrations to show that the church of today must render service if it is to succeed in its mission.

The second annual banquet of the League was, if anything, even more successful than the first. The League here is a potent influence in church work, and is officered as follows:

E. H. Greenlee, D. D., pastor; George H. Hott, president; Hazel Welch, first vice president, Muriel Baker, second vice president; Ruth Gass, third vice president; Elizabeth Allen, fourth vice president; Mabel Baker, secretary; Russell Bucy, treasurer.

"DOC" SHEPHARD

MONONGAHELA NO MATCH FOR C. H. S.

Last night Charleroi High School Basketball team defeated Monongahela, at Monongaehla, by a score of 35-25

The star of the game was Captain White of the Charleroi team, who played wonderful ball.

Owing to the fact that Monongahela was outclassed, Coach Stepanian used several substitutes.

"DOC" SHEPHARD, ALL-AROUND ATHLETE

The accompanying cut is a likeness of "Doc" Shephard, aged about 20 years, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Shephard, a guard on the Charleroi High School Basketball team, a member of the Charleroi High School Football squd, a sprinter of the track squad of the High School, and an all-around athlete.

Last fall during the course of the Exposition, Mr. Shephard was elected or named as the most popular young man in the High School. He also enjoys the honor, of course, mythical, but nevertheless an honor, of being named on the first team of an all-star team from Section five. He is also a Junior in the High school and enjoys the confidence and esteem of all who know him His parents have every reason to be proud of their athletic son.

What The Advances In The Price Of Gasoline Will Mean

If the advances in the cost of gasoline made during the past six months be maintained it will mean an increase of $300,000,000 in the annual cost of operating the country's motor vehicles, according to a statement sent to its 62 affiliated motor clubs by the Pennsylvania Motor Federation.

The statement asks for an endorsement of President Coolidge for his pormpt action in ordering an investigation of the recent sharp advance in the price of gasoline and quotes from a letter sent to the President last week by Thomas P. Henry, President of the American Automo[illegible]

"Advance in gasoline prices are so often made simultaneously at filling stations in given territory as to seem to indicate an agreement or concerted action. If it is due to cost of production gasoline is unque in its relation to natural economic laws. There is often a differential of from one to two cents in crossing state lines. There is a dominating influence somewhere that, seemingly is not related to the law of supply and demand.

"We want the people to now the reel reasons, if any exist, for the price being from two to six cents higher in one section than the price quoted in an adjoining territory and why the price can be arbitrarily increased in certain sections overnight."

Men Out of A Job Employed Shoveling Snow

Harrisburg. Feb. 23 (United Press)—Thousands of men who have been swelling the ranks of the unemployed in Pennsylvania due to seasonal conditions in building, quarrying, [illegible] were placed during the past week as snow shovelers relieving to a considerable extent the employment situation throughout the state.

A detailed report of the number of men who assisted in clearing highways and traffic generally during the worst snow storm of the winter this week will be made by the State Employment Bureau in a few days, it was learned

The summary for the state as issued shows: Calls being made for farm hands to start March 1, indicating that farmers are already bidding for the surplus supply of common labor to avoid last year's experience where the shortage inconvenienced agriculture generally.

Open weather has permitted building operations to continue and numerous applications received for certain classes of building tradesmen. Employment is irregular although a better situation prevails in spite of the recent storm than existed last year.

A slump in textiles and clothing mills is noted in the gradual decline in the number of orders for employes. The same condition is noted in the retail trade.

Women Are Coming To The Front In Keystone State Politics

Harrisburg, Pa., Feb. 23—(United Press)—The women of Pennsylvania are taking an active part in the politics of the Keystone state.

Both political parties have made concessions that will eventually have an important bearing on elections.

Reform seems to be the battle cry of the feminine bloc.

The State League of Women Voters, under the leadership of Mrs. John O. Miller of Pittsburgh has launched an intensive educational campaign to school the women of the state in exercising their franchise.

WHAT TO FORGET.

If you would increase your happiness and prolong your life, forget your neighbor's faults. Forget all the slander you have heard. Forget the temptations. Forget the fault finding, and give a little thought to the cause that provoked it. Forget the peculiarities of your friends, and only remember the good points which makes you fond of them. Forget all personal quarrels or histories you may have heard by accident, and which, if repeated, would seem a thousand times worse than they are. The disagreeables of life; they will come, but will only grow larger when you remember them, and the constant thoughts of the acts of meanness, or more lamentable still, notice, will only tend to make you more familiar with them.

Obliterate largely disagreeableness of yesterday, start out with a clean sheet today, write upon it for sweet memory's sake only those things which are lovely and loveable.

Editors who have been accused of reading only a page or two of proffered manuscripts, some of them caustically replying that to read a page or two is often quite sufficient for the purpose, will smile at the outcry coming from certain of the score and more thousands who competed for the Bok peace plan prize. These persons confess to suspicion that their efforts never came under the eye of the ultimate judges and indignantly declar that they have been "cheated." Their "suspicion" may be well founded, for judges of limited powers of endurance could take up the task only after an army of intelligent assistance had winnowed the fairly good wheat from the vast pile of chaff.

According to the Army and Navy Journal, for more than a hundred years first and second lieutenants have been called "Mister" when speaking to them or introducing them, but when speaking of them and when making references to them to enlisted men they have been called Lieutenants," enlisted men always so addressing them. The War Department was recently requested to abolish the "Mister" part of it and rule that lieutenants be given their title under all circumstances, but it is stated that the strange old custom will not be changed.

The Doukhobors of Canada after looking around in several countries have decided to return to their native Russia. It seems that they get into trouble wherever they go on account of their peculiarities, one of which according to report—is occasional appearance in public without any clothes on. A tropic clime would seem to be more convenient, particularly in winter.

And now the Literary Digest is conducting a straw vote on the Mellon tax reduction plan. Its effort to feel the public pulse on the prohibition question was denounced as "propaganda" because its figures often learned toward the "wet" and "moist" sides, but whatever its showing as to the Mellon paln, no very violent explosions may be expected.

Mrs. Halsey Wilson of New York who recently spoke in Cleveland says ten thousand women are to stump for the Democratic party in the coming national campaign. That seems a pretty large number, but it is generally admitted that some women can speak much better than some men.

A baronet has been defined as a person who has ceased to be a gentleman without becoming a nobleman. It would be interesting to know just where the same satirist would place Lieut-Col. Sir Broderick Hartwell, who is reported to be advertising his fourth rum-running cruise with a promise of 20 per cent profits.

Henry Ford thinks that permanent peace can be secured merely by inducing all the peoples of the world to learn English. And that Governor of Porto Rico who got into so much trouble seemed to think that all the Porto Ricans needed was to learn how things were done in the Middle West.

Even Mr. Coolidge, apart from his silent character, is too late a comer to be involved in any way, it is surprising to learn the Boston Transcript [illegible] "Democratic slap[illegible]"

The Commissioners and Scoutmasters from Monessen met Wednesday evening, Feb. 26, at the Junior High school. Many questions and policies were discussed and plans made for activities during the coming month. It was decided that the Monessen Round Table meet the third Wednesday in every month.

Ciracy, each made their report in The Commissioners Sterritt and their respective departments, and every Scoutmaster heartily endorsed all plans which they outlined for the coming month.

CALL OF PLEDGES.

In each town there is a small amount of money that has not been collected, which comprise the pledges of 1923. The Finance committee in each town are now asking all who pledged and have not paid to see that their money is handed to one of the committee or to the treasurer before April 1. Statements have been sent out to these delinquents and it is expected that they will respond heartily. These pledges may be paid to the following: Monongahela: W. F. Alten or J. C. PATROL GOOD TURN CONTEST.

A new contest which seeks to stimulate the Good Turn habit among the boys will be put into action beginning March 1, when each patrol in every troop will become a competitor for the prize. Under the rules of the contest the Scoutmaster is the sole judge of whether the report constituted a good turn or not, and in case of doubt a committee in each town will be formed to investigate the matter and form a decision. The prize will be a Scout ax, to be presented to every boy in the patrol winning the contest.

The public is asked to cooperate with us in giving the boys opportunities to do Good Turns in order that they may enter into this contest in the proper spirit.

BUSINESS, BRAINS AND BREECHES

City jobs and salaries are time wasters, according to Ruth Fliesbach. She thinks she is probably earning the largest income of any person in Hays, Kan., and fully intends to make it larger within two years.

The chief set-back she has found is the belief of the average chair-warmer in the average big office that "only a man can do that"; it's contagious, and the girl wastes time accepting the dictum that business, brains and breeches are inseparable.

Ruth Fliesbach was orphaned when she was three. At seventeen she was teaching. At nineteen her savings had gone into a commercial course and she tried five jobs in one year looking for one that would pay more than $7.50 a week. For the sixth, "I coralled a bunch of positions for part time. Soon I was earning the $15 a week I had set out to get. But it kept me racing all the way from the city market (this was in Kansas City) to the far corners of uptown.

"I applied for every position I heard about, sometimes waiting in line with 50 others. When I answered one ad the manager looked at me and the 'baby doll' who sat next me, and said: 'Two years' experience required.' My letter had said I had had ten months. So I looked at the baby doll and then at the manager and said: 'You won't be able to buy my services for $50 a month then!' Two weeks later he had fired the pretty girl and I was on his pay roll. In five years there I reached $60 a month, but that was the most any girl could hope for.

"In a fervor of patriotism I turned court reporter in Hays so the young man could go to the front. That paid me, with fees, about $150 a month." After other adventures Miss Fliesbach became successively secretary of the chamber of commerce and publicity director of a building and investment company. Her ambition is to start an advertising agency, "right in Hays to help the small town merchant advertise his goods and compete with the mail order houses."

MEN OUT OF A JOB EMPLOYED

Practically no demand exists for labor in metal manufacturing lines with reports coming in that reduction of forces is taking place. Slackness is general in the large mills of the Pittsburgh, Johnstown, Harrisburg and Philadelphia districts, it is reported.

Reports vary on the conditions in the mining industry. The bituminous mines of the Johnstown district report a noted improvement since February 1. In the Pittsburgh district, however, the demand for miners is very slight, while very little change is found in the central section around Harrisburg. The anthracite situation, according to the Scranton report is distributed by numerous small strikes occuring periodically.

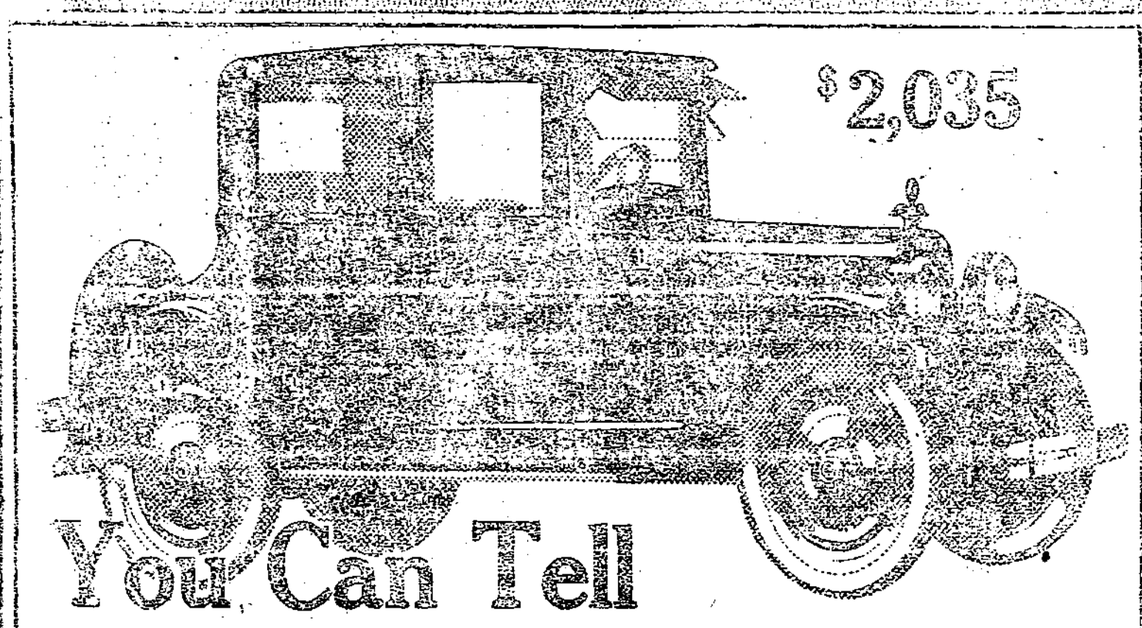
Mr. Martin Tells What A Wonderful Ointment San Cura Is

"My head was so scabby I was ashamed to go out in company. One jar of San Cura Ointment completely healed it, and I had used every soap and ointment you could mention." — C. O. Martin, 231 E. 29th St., Cleveland, Ohio.

And San Cura Ointment is just as wonderful for cuts, burns, bruises, old sores, piles, eczema and skin diseases, 30c and 60c. San Cura Soap, the antiseptic soap, for complexion, shampooing or washing sores, 25c at Hennings' Drug Store. Thompson Medical Co., Titusville, Pa.

That book on "how to be happy though married" is hardly needed by the Brooklyn couple who at their recent sixtieth wedding anniversary smilingly confessed that they are "just as much sweethearts now" as they were three score years ago.

Lord Bledisloe has decided to join the Labor party, but is hardly expecting to be lonesome. Premier Ramsay Macdonald put three lords and a baronet in his Cabinet to begin with and has asked the King to create three of its members barons.



You Can Tell

A Rickenbacker — By The Space Behind It

That was a happy thought—putting on every Rickenbacker car as standard equipment—with all the other things that leave the owner "Nothing Else to Buy"—a drum tire-cover with lettered warning, "4-Wheel Brakes!"

That notice which says, in effect, "the car ahead can stop in Nothing Flat" gives the Rickenbacker owner Right of Way at all times.

If you could look down from an aeroplane upon the moving throng of automobiles during the rush hour—five to six p. m.—you could pick out every Rickenbacker Six easily.

You could do that even if you were so high you could not distinguish its graceful lines.

For, behind each Rickenbacker you would see a generous space.

Driver behind sees the warning—"4-Wheel Brakes"—and he respects it.

It is amusing, by the way, for the Rickenbacker owner to watch thru his Rear Vision Mirror and note the actions of the car behind.

If perchance it comes in from a side street, and as so many foolish drivers do, approaches to within four feet of the car in front of him in dense traffic, before he catches sight of the "4-Wheel Brakes":

You will see him suddenly back off—and stay at a respectful distance.

Often you will see his wife indicating, with lips clearly saying, "Look out, that's a Rickenbacker Six in front—I hope we may have one soon."

Rickenbacker drivers enjoy an immunity from the dread of being bumped from the rear even as they are absolutely safe from front-end collisions.

No other car can stop as quickly as a Rickenbacker Six—that has been proven in the most conclusive tests; no 2-Brake car can stop half as quickly.

It's the front-end accident that you are responsible for. Your Rickenbacker 4-Wheel Brakes take care of that.

And that Warning which every Rickenbacker owner carries on his spare tire always guarantees more space than he needs between him and the next car behind.

Owners of previous Rickenbacker models which had only two brakes—tell many amusing stories about the wide berth other cars give them also. They Own the Road if you believe all they say.

That's because the very name Rickenbacker and the term "4-Wheel Brakes" are synonymous in the minds of motorists.

For all authorities know that Rickenbacker not only pioneered in this greatest improvement since the Self-Starter, but that Rickenbacker still has the best 4-Wheel Brakes—the most perfectly equalized and the simplest to adjust—in the whole world.

"Some Day—You'll Own a Rickenbacker Too."

MUSIC AS A WORSHIP ELEMENT

At the M. E. church last Sabbath morning, Rev. Dr. E. H. Greenlee called attention to the week's program of music in the Public schools by preaching on "Music As An Element in Christian Worship." The text was Colossians 3:16—"Let the word of Christ dwell in you richly in all wisdom; teaching and admonishing one another in psalms, hymns and spiritual songs, singing with grace in your heart to the Lord."

The speaker cited the place of music in Old testament worship. Miriam lead Israel's women in songs of rejoicing, after the safe crossing of the Red Sea. A great choir sang at the dedication of the temple. The people of God in captivity cried piteously, "How can we sing the Lord's song in a strange land?"

New Testament worship employed music as shown by the singing of a hymn by our Lord and his disciples before going from the place of the last supper to Gethsemene; also by the singing of Paul and Silas in the Philippian prison, and by the teaching of the text quoted. The love lyries of the Troubadours, the singing of Cromwell's soldiers, and the war time songs of America, show the demand of the human heart for the expression of its deeper impulses in song.

The great cathedrals of Europe did much to develop a high order of sacred music. The reformers of Luther's time sang, "A mighty fortress is our God; a bulwark never failing;" and Charles Wesley in the days of the Wesleyan revival, lead all England in singing "O for a thousand tongues to sing, My great Redeemer's praise." In the public worship of today hymns are expected to indoctrinate, to memorialize, to unify, to inspire.

"How can music be made more effective in worship?"

By training the entire congregation to sing.

By developing a preference for the best in music.

By reminding that only the spiritual minded can sing with spiritual effect.

By striving to imbibe sentiment of great hymns.

n this church there will be a week of special services beginning Sabbath morning and ending with Communion March 2. Different ministers will speak in these services.

IN MEMORIAM.

In loving memory of Mrs. Teresa Oblondi, who died two years ago today, February 23, 1922.

LOOK TWICE "ERE YOU LEAP"

New York, Feb. 23—"Men, take a second look at that girl before you marry her," advises Carroll M. Gibney, educational director of Central Y. M. C. A., Brooklyn.

Gibney, announcing a course to prepare bachelors for marriage, says don't:

Marry for sex attraction alone.

Fail to run your household on a budget system.

Expect your wife to conform to the "single standard" of morality if your own is double.

Put off marrying until you are earning $4,000 a year.

Pay more than 30 per cent of your income for rent in New York, or 20 per cent elsewhere.

The course will last six weeks and will give single men's knowledge of the economic, physicological and psychological aspects of marriage, as well as training in care and education of children.

Members Of Penna. Legion Total 19,718

Phila., Feb. 23—(United Press).—Pennsylvania posts of the American Legion now have a combined membership of 19,718, only 96 members less than the enrollment in New York State, according to J. Leo Collins, state commander.

In making membership announcement Collins said that the Executive Committee of the State Legion Posts will meet in Philadelphia on March 1 to take up matter of selection dates for the sixth annual state convention which will be held in Greensburg.

The Executive Committee, while in session here, will also formulate plans for Pennsylvania's participation in the National Convention which will be held in St. Paul from September 15 to 19 inclusive.

MAY NOT BE EASY FOR CUPID

Phila., Feb. 23—(United Press)—Elopement marriages would be taboo and divorces easier to obtain in Pennsylvania if a bill now being drafted by the Pennsylvania Conference on Social Welfare is passed by the next legisalture.

Under theproposed bill marriages would have to be advertised five days before they take place, so that objectors would have a chance to be heard according to Allen Seymour Olmstead Jr., who is assisting in drafting the bill.

In addition to makingthe war more difficult for Dan Cupid the bill would make the work easier for the big rival of the Little God of Love who is none other than Divorce.

"The Pennsylvanian who wants a divorce must commit a barbarous or indecent act or else perjure himself," Olmstead said. "The state should set up some sort of a department to look into divorce applications and grant them if it is to the benefit of all concerned. This should be done without reference to the so-called grounds for divorce."

CAN FIX IT UP WITH WALLACE

Washington, Feb. 23—(United Press)—President Coolidge will take steps within a day or two to dispel the impression that he desires Secretary of Agriculture Wallace to leave the cabinet, it was learned today.

Reports that the Secretary of Agriculture was about to step out surprised the president. Mr. Coolidge is said to regard as relatively trivial the differences between Wallace and himself over the farm relief program and Wallace's difference with Secretary of Commerce Hoover over foreign trade policies as they relate to agriculture. In any event, the president is understood to feel that these differences can be ironed out without causing Wallace to resign.

Wallace, one of his close friends said today, is ready to quit the cabinet if that will be cnducive to harmony in the administration.

WOMEN COMING TO THE FRONT

Republican party. He retains a large following among a group which has formed itself into the State Council of Republican Women.

Mrs. Barclay Warburton, daughter of John Wanamaker, is an active figure in this organization, while its politics are shaped for the most part by Mrs Gifford Pinchot. Mrs. Worthington Scranton of Scranton, another prominent woman socially in the state, is likewise associated with this group.

Mrs. Warburton is a member of the Republican State Committee and her influence is considerable. In some quarters, it is said, the decision to place both Governor Pinchot and a woman on the slate of seven delegates at large to the Republican Convention is due to her influence.

The women are from every section of the State. They are considered in many moves which the state administration or the leaders wish to make Their position comes partly through social standing, partly through their commanding position in the communities they represent and to a considerable extent through their knowledge of present day politics, absorbed by years of association and close study.

CHARLEROI GIRLS AGAIN WINNERS

The Charleroi High Girls returned to form last night and administered a crushing defeat to the Monongahela Girls at that place. The chief feature of the game was the shooting of Sonkoly, she having scored 6 field goals, while Phillips secured 9.

The teamwork of the entire crew was in evidence every minute of the game Although the floor was very slippery, thus slowing up the game, yet they showed plenty of speed.

Phillips, although playing with a bad knee, still was on the job, scoring 6 out of 11 fouls, while the Monongahela girls were only able to score one field goal, and 6 out of 14 fouls. Score:

Phillips	S. Hoffman
Sonkoly	H. Grant
Allsopp	Beckenstein
Woodward	Wickerham
Cratty	McCurdy
Murphy, Wilson	Kennedy

The actual cause of Tonsilitis is nerve pressure caused by a misaligned vertebra of the spine. Until this vertebra is perfectly aligned and the nerve pressure eliminated, Tonsilitis is not relieved.
Chiropractic relieves Tonsilitis because it removes the cause — the Chiropractor does it with only his hands.

Another coasting accident occurred last night about 8 o'clock on the hill ough, but slight injury was done to those involved. George A. Rowe, son of Mrs. Margaret Rowe, of 203 Shady avenue, was rendered unconscious when the sled on which he was riding collided with another coming in the opposite direction on Crest avenue at the corner of Third street. Miss Priscilla Barrow, who was riding on the sled with George, was somewhat bruised, while George received lacerations about the head. Both were given medical attention immediately and taken to their homes. George was unable to resume his duties at the Mail Publishing company this morning, but is on the job this afternoon.
